● Yanar Dag Burning Mountain – is located north of Baku city, around 23km from the Old Town. Legend has it it's been on fire since the 1950s when a shepherd threw a match into a patch of natural gas. It's best to visit in the early evening to see the three-metre-high flames erupting from the sandstone hill.

● Atashgah of Baku – built by the Persians in the 17th century, it has served various purposes over the centuries, including as a place of worship for Hindus and Sikhs. An eternal flame fanned by natural petroleum reserves went out in 1969. It was reignited with the help of gas piped in from Baku and the complex was turned into a museum in 1975.

● Gobustan National Park – officially Gobustan Rock Art Cultural Landscape sits approximately 67km south of Baku. The archaeological park here dates back to 1966. In 2007, it was designated as a UNESCO world heritage site. This national park is home to the longest continuing tradition of cave art in the world, dating back to the Palaeolithic times.

SHEKI

● Sheki Khan's Palace – was a summer residence for the Shaki Khans. It was built in 1797 by Muhammed Hasan Khan. The summer residence is renowned for the lavish decoration of its exterior and interior, that was assembled without nails or glue. On 7th July 2019, the Historic Centre of Shaki with the Khan's Palace was inscribed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site.

The higher parts of the pillars contain notable members of royalty and rulers of Georgia.

● Narikala Fortress – also called the Mother Fortress of Tbilisi, is an ancient fortress overlooking Tbilisi and the Kura River.

● Mother of Georgia Statue – is the city symbol of Tbilisi. The statue was erected on Sololaki Hill to celebrate the 1500th anniversary of Tbilisi in 1958. The twenty-metre aluminium statue is of a woman in a Georgian national dress, symbolising the national character.

● Abanotubani – is an important historic part of the city – the place, where according to a legend the King of Iberia, Vakhtang Gorgasali's falcon fell, leading to a discovery of the hot springs and, subsequently, to founding of a new capital.

Uplistsikhe was a cult temple city, a large pagan center prior to Christianity introduction in Georgia. In the 13th century, Uplistsike has destroyed as a result of the devastating invasion of Genghis - Khan hordes to Georgia. In the 19th century, Uplistsike was lost under the layers of dirt and sand. Huge efforts of many experts in its excavation, restoration and studying of this outstanding historical monument in the history of Georgian culture revived.

LAKE SEVAN

- Lake Sevan – is the largest lake in the Caucasus and the largest alpine freshwater lake in the. The name of Lake Sevan comes from the fact that the monastery was built with black materials. As early as 305 AD, the "Church of the Holy Resurrection" was built on an island in Lake Sevan. In the ninth century, two churches with very similar appearances were built at the same time – "Church of the HoApostles" and "Church of Our Lady". Later, as the lake water dropped, the island turned into a peninsula, and the "Holy Resurrection Church" collapsed due to an earthquake. Now only these two churches still stand on the hillside of the peninsula.

KOTAYK

- Geghard Cave Monastery – The name Geghard means "Spear". It was called the monastery of the spear or Geghardavank because allegedly the spear that wounded Jesus Christ when he was killed and hanged was brought to Armenia and was kept in this monastery. Now the spear is displayed at the Etchmiadzin Treasury. This monastery is a UNESCO World Heritage Site. The main chapel of the monastery complex was built in 1215 and it was partially carved out of the adjacent mountain, surrounded by cliffs.
